It was said that the troops came from Wittenberg, Rosslau-Meinsdorf, Zerbst, Howeig and Jueterbog-Altes Lager. They were restricted to quarters. Observation posts were built at elevated sites within the camp. The camp had one entrance near Werder and one near Markendorf. (4)
10. A train of 40 boxcars occupied by an undetermined number of soldiers with closely cropped hair and wearing red-bordered black epaulets, was observed on 11 June 1950. The train came from the direction of Wittenberg or Falkenberg and headed toward Berlin.

12. A train of 40 boxcars occupied by an undetermined number of soldiers, coming from the direction of Berlin, and heading toward Falkenberg or Wittenberg was seen on 13 June 1950.

16. On 9,12 and 14 June about 200 canvas-covered tanks were observed in the tank parking lot between Hanstein and Turnierplatz. The tanks had six bogie wheels on each side. (2)

25X1 17.

- 25X1 18. According to a soldier with a rear detail, Unit [redacted] was away on a field exercise in Saxony. According to another 25X1 soldier turning in laundry, most elements [redacted] were on a field exercise near Senftenberg. (7)

- 25X1 19. Soldiers of the Units [redacted] said that they were due to leave for discharge.

25X1 [redacted] Comments.

(1) The observations in Jueterbog agree with previous reports. Continuous convoy and individual motor vehicle traffic between Jueterbog and the Werder-Markendorf training grounds, and in Jueterbog proper, support the previous estimate that some small elements of the 14th Gds Mecz Div and the 6th Tank Div remained at the post.

25X1 (2) These tanks previously reported by another fairly reliable informant in early May 1950. [redacted] They are the JS type according to the number of bogie wheels. The tanks may have been reserve stock not distributed to the troops. The detraining of 30 canvas-covered tanks, probably a supply shipment, was reported [redacted] on 18 and 19 May 1950. [redacted]

25X1 (3) Checks with other reports on the departure of soldiers due for demobilization. [redacted]
